THINK Fellowship

Learn from peers in other fields as you work on your own independent project

Fall or spring, $1,000 // Open to students in all majors. THINK supports any form of research, scholarship, or creative work related to your studies. Projects can be analytic or purely creative; interdisciplinary projects are encouraged.

The fellowship emphasizes communicating to a general audience. Each week, you'll share about your project with fellows from other disciplines.

“The fellowship influences the zine, because now I’m more versed in zine values like authenticity, as well as creative techniques.”
